

Transitions Program

The Transitions Program is an abstinent based program aimed at supporting clients to transition back into their communities after intensive residential treatment to reduce relapse in early recovery.

About

The Transitions Program has been designed to support clients who are transitioning back into the community after completing the intensive inpatient program at South Pacific Private or alternative treatment facility.

The aim of the program is to consolidate the learnings from the inpatient program and provide an opportunity for clients to practice incorporating their newly learned skills into daily life. Clients begin to gradually re-integrate into their lives and increase their responsibilities with a large degree of therapeutic support. During the two week program, clients generally reside in Beachwood Supported Living.

Research shows that the longer an individual is engaged in treatment and programs the better their chances of a sustained recovery and is essential for relapse prevention.
